

[C]Saturday night in Toledo, Ohio, is like being nowhere at [G7] all
All through the day how the [C] hours rush by
You [D7]sit in the park and you [G7]watch the grass die

Ah, but [C] after the sunset, the dusk and the twilight
When shadows of night start to [G7]fall
They roll back the sidewalks [C]precisely at ten
And [D7]people who live there are [G7]not seen again

Just [C]two lonely truckers from [F]Great Falls, Montana
And a [G7]salesman from places unknown -[C] ces unknown
All [F]huddled together in [C]downtown [A]Toledo
To [D7]spend their big [G7] night all [C]alone

You [C]ask how I know of Toledo, Ohio
Well I spent a week there one [G7]day
They've got entertainment to [C]dazzle your eyes
Go [D7]visit the bakery and [G7]watch the buns rise

Ah, but [C]let's not forget that the folks of Toledo
Unselfishly gave us the [G7]scales
No springs, honest weight, that's the [C]promise they made
So [D7]smile and be thankful next [G7]time you get weighed

And [C]wive and wet [C7] wive
Let [F]this be our motto
Let's [G7]let the sleeping dogs lie -[C] ping dogs lie[C7]

And [F]here's to the dogs of [C]Toledo,[A7] Ohio
[D7]Ladies, we [G7]bid you [C]goodbye
